Form section

A form section is a separate page on the object form. For most business objects the form contains a single section. However, if a business object is complex and contains many attributes it is often beneficial to split them into logical groups, each displayed on a separate form section with a specific name. A form section can be either auto-generated or custom. In the Operation mode users can switch between different sections according the navigation style the configurator selects for the object form.
