getLoadedTemplate ()

public BinaryResource getLoadedTemplate ()

This method returns the data for the document template as a `BinaryResource`. `BinaryResource` is a structure that contains the document file name and the binary data of the document as an array of bytes. This method should be used by fillWithData method to retrieve the document template so that it can find tags and replace them with values.

Parameters

Returns

the document template as a `BinaryResource` structure.
